the day of the execution of Robert C. Kennedy, the particulars of which did not leak out until yesterday. The gallows was er-ected on Friday afternoon, in the centre of the court-yard, and directly frenting the court-yard, and directly frenting the quarters occupied by Col. Baker's bounty jumpers and brokers, to the number of 193.

These latter were ignorant of the exact use to whith the gallows was to be put, and it occurred to some of the officials that a fine opportunity was offered for a practical joke. The story goes that an order, purporting to issue from the War Department, was taken in to the "jumpers" on Friday afternoon, and read aloud with great official pomp, setting forth that the evils of bounty-jumping was wide-spread, and that the most vigorous measures were now to be taken to suppress it; and further, that it had been decided to select 20 names out of the numher confined in Fort Lafayette, who should the names to be decided upon by lot. There were very tew of them who closed their eyes on Friday night. Some were praying, some singing, and some uttering maledictions on Colonel Baker, whom they regarded as the author of their terrible misfortunes. The next morning they were huddled into the casements and the season of the following diseases: BTE and EAR DISTANCE OF THE PROAF, DIS
